The Freemasons of France are beginning to address their "brothers of the mystic tie" of Germany. All Masons, the lodge called Perseverance. of Saumur, says, are well aware that their first duty is to defend the soil and the flag of their country. But Germany and France have no need to give proofs of their military courage; they should consciidate the fraternity of nations and close the era of conquests. There is now but one serious conquest to make—that of liberty, of selfgovernment, and of the dignity of the great human family. The Lodge conjures its German brethren to join their fforts to those of the French Masons in the cause of peace. The sentence pronounced against certain Fenians in Dublin is in these terrible words: "That you be takenhence to the prison from which you came; thence to be drawn upon a hurdle to the place of execution; there to be hanged by the neck until you are dead; that your heads be then severed from your bodies; that your bodies be quartered and placed at her most gracious Majesty's disposal." This law, it appears, passed as late as the year 1785, in the time of GEORGE the Third, and, although there is no probability of its ever being carried out, it scandalizes humanity by being retained in the books. But Queen VICTORIA, it is well known, will never enforce such a barbarous exactment. The idea of the four quarters of a dyad man, and his severed head being "placed at her disposal" is too shocking to think of. It appears from a letter in the Vicksburg Herald, that the storm of the 26th was very disastrous in its effects in certain portions of Mississippi. COPIES OF THE reports of Major-General JOHN POPE, Major-General WAGER SWAYNE, and Colonel O. L. SHEPHERD, respecting the recent riot at Morile, Alabama, have been published. There are some material discrepancies in these official documents. General Pope says "everybody apprehended disturbance during Judge Kelly's speech." Colonel SHEPHERD shows that the band of his regiment was present, and he also was there as a spectator, not apprehending danger, though he says that "while Mr. KELLEY warmed into his theme, eliciting the applause of the large concourse of people, evidence disturbance manifested itself in such manner as to convince the speaker that there was an intention to silence him and put him down, by a lot of men present for that object and no other." General Swarns says that so far as he could le rn, the "disturbance was not apprehended or deliberately planned." It is not easy to reconcile these differ ences of statement, but it will be remembered that General Pope's headquarters are at Atlanta, Georgia, and that the report of General SWAYNE is made upon his own personal inquiry upon the scene of the riot immediately after the outbreak. Notwithstanding it is made apparent that the disturbance was caused by the rowdy element minutes, not only are the Mayor of Mobile and friends. the Chief of Police removed by General Pope, but he gives notice of his intention to "remove the entire police force, and probably change the board of Aldermen in a few days. > THE NEW HOSE CARRIAGE FOR THE FIREMEN OF COLUMBIA.-We mentioned a few days ago that the new hose carriage ordered by the New York Firemen for their brethren of Columbia had been completed, and would arrive in this city about the middle of the month. The New York Herald mentions that it has been placed on exhibition in that city, and gives the following description of it which may be interesting to our firemen: The new hore carriage lately built by the New York Firemen's Association has been placed on officers armed themselves with Havar's rifles, and exhibition at the rooms of the association, corner of Sixth Avenue and Fourth street. The carriage They were all negroes and were shipped far exceeds the one lost on the steamer Andalusia, and is supplied with about five hundred feet of new hose. Her running gear is of polished iron, the wheels painted in carmine and gold, the hose plated rings. On the front panel is the following inscription: "Organized 1837;" on the rear box 20, 1837, when she was a little over 18 years of panel the word "Independent." The sides of the the front box is the coat of arms of the city of New York and that of Columbia, S. C., and on the rear a painting of peace and plenty. On the front, over the arch, is a silver plate in shape of the front piece of a fire cap, bearing the following in-scription: "Presented by the New York Fire-men's Association to the Independent Fire Engine Company of Columbia, S. C., June, 1867." On the lamps is a fine figure of Phonix. The whole cost about $3,000.

SLAVERY HAS NOT yet been abolished in the Empire of Brazil. The announcement of its abolition, which we got some days ago by way of England, through the Atlantic Cable, was premature. The real facts of the matter, as we are now assured by the Counselor, DE AZAMBUJA, late Minister of Brazil, were given in an article from the Rio Diario, which were translated and published in the Times of the 17th inst. The statement there given was official and authoritative. By this it appears that the Brazilian Council of State has laborated a project for emancipation, which is. however, to form the groundwork of future legislative discussion, This project provides for the complete extinction of slavery at the close of the present century; but it also provides for the ting (1) that from the date of its promulgation all children born to slaves shall be free, and (2) that a fund shall be appropriated for ithe annual purchase of a certain number of slaves. The official organ says that all Brazilians are in favor of the spirit of this plan, as all detest the institution of slavery in its principle. There are sufficient reasons for being satisfied that the plan will be adopted before long. In the note of Counselor DE AZAMBUJA to Secretary SEWARD he says that he AZAMBUJA to Secretary Seward ne says that he does not doubt "that this measure is already resolved upon by my Courf, in principle at least, to go into effect as to the manner of execution with the concurrence of the Legislative Chambers."

TRADES'-UNION.

Just now there seems to be considerable agiation in this country and abroad in reference to the conflict between capital and labor. The working classes have become completely organized in the Northern and Western States, as also in England and France, and are bringing heavily o bear the powerful influence they can wield, both for good and for evil, by combined effort. But a few weeks ago all London was thrown into a ferment by a strike of the engine drivers of one of the largest railways operating from that populous commercial centre. For nearly week the entire current of trade was obstructed on the particular line in question. The value of its stocks declined in the market, and there were ominous indications that if the points in issue between the engine drivers and the ailway company were not amicably adjusted, the engine drivers of other lines would soon take a similar course. A compromise was, however, effected to the satisfaction of both parties, and the trouble passed over, at least for a time. The apprehensions of what may occur in the future have not, however, been entirely allayed. The startling fact was forced upon a preeminently commercial community that by acting in concert the engine drivers of England can seriously derange the trade and commerce of that country for an indefinite period. Although comparatively few in number, they are skilled in their profession by long training, and it was found that it would be impossible to replace them adequately if from any cause of difference with their employers they should comoine together to break off work.

But the trouble does not end here. Every branch of trade or manufacture in England has its Trades' Union, and its affiliated societies. These organizations have their ramifications in all parts of the kingdom, and, confident in their numerical strength, they undertake not only to regulate the rate of wages, but to exclude from employment every man, however skilled a workman he may be, who refuses to join the association. Latterly these combinations have assumed an international phase. The workingmen of England send greeting to the workingmen of France, encourage them in their strikes for higher wages, supply them with funds to carry on their resistance, and actually, as in the case of the tailors' strike in Paris, enter into treaties of alliance offensive and defensive with them, as between Potentates engaged in a con In the North and West we notice that the workingmen's unions have become nearly, if not quite, as dictatorial, and, by making the questions of wages and of hours of labor poitical issues, exert even a more powerful influence than their foreign compeers. In Chicago they have carried their measures to such an extent as to produce serious riots, and the simple object the discovery of an orphan, cast in its Chicago Tribune estimates that for weeks from six thousand to ten thousand men had quit work in that city, demanding more pay and less hours of labor. That these combinations may be beneficial, in some respects, to the classes whose rights they were originally designed to protect, no one will venture to deny. But, when they assume to control the capital of the country, and to say what the master workman shall or shall not do; when, above all, they undertake to shape the laws of the land in their own interest, they do but repeat the pernicious errors of the Protectionists in another form and on another scale. The ultimate consequences must be to prevent enterprising men from undertaking important works, by contracts, involving a stipulated sum, and by introducing the element of uncertainty into all such engagements, to divert the surplus capital of the country from building and manufacturing purposes, into channels where the investment will draw a stated annual interest, and from which the workingmen will derive no benefit whatever.

THE CHARLESTON FIRE DEPARTMENT.

We have read the Annual Report of the Chief of the Fire Department with much interest and satisfaction, for in the first paragraph we find the fellowing cheering assurance, pronounced by the very best authority. The Chief says; "We now have men and engines enough for any emergency."

During the six months preceding April, 1866, the Department was called out to 20 fires and 9 false alarms. The loss by fire in Charleston in those six months was $124,000. During the twelve months preceding April, 1867, there were 27 fires in this city and 20 "false alarms." The losses for this period amount to $112,695; "yet," adds Mr. NATHAN, "when it is considered that the first six months after the city was turned over by the United States forces. our engines, hose and appurtenances were in a very dilapidated condition, so much so as to impede our labors, compared with our increased trade and population the past year, I think we have done well. Now all our steamers have arrived, as also 8000 feet of hose and new suctions; and I refer with much pleasure to the promptness with which fires are now checked. But there are some among us who find fault, because it happens, occasionally, that too much water is used. We go to check fires, and if, unfortunately, water damages wares and merchandize adjacent to the burning house, the ommencement of the work immediately, by en- fault is not ours, nor do we propose to use more water than is necessary to stop the spread of a fire."

An abundant supply of fresh water always has been, and still is, the great desideratum of eur city, and while the tidal drains and numerous fire wells furnish the best substitute at present at our command, it is to be hoped that our city authorities, with every successive administration, will prosecute with energy, and to a successful completion, the Artesian Well enterprise, so hopefully commenced some twenty years ago.

The Department now has seven Steam En-The Department now has seven Steam Engines, six Hand Engines, and an excellent Truck and Ladders. There are, besides, four Hand Engines manned by colored men. Three companies, two white and one colored, have applied for admission into the Department since April, 1866, but have been refused by the Board, with the sanction of City Council. "In doing this," says Mr. NATHAN, "it has been used by the elite of Paris and London with the with no feeling of prejudice. Eighteen companies for a population like ours is more than sufficient; a further addition would make it cumbersome."

FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, PAINS IN THE CHEST AND SIDES, DIFFICULTY I. BREATH. ING, BRONCHTIS, CATARRH, ASTHMA, COUGHE, HEMORRHAGE, and all affections of the Lungs.

This great revivityer is offered to the public, that all who will avail themselves of its remedial power may be benefitted. who will avail themselves of its remedial power may be benefited.

It only requires a fair trial to confirm its invaluable agency in diffusing through each channel of the human organization a restored vitality. It invigorates and embuse the Lungs with h-althful elasticity; restores warmth, which is their essential element; rouses the sluggish vessels into activity; heals the affected lobes; purifies and enriches the blood; regulates the circulation; induces free and easy respiration, and expels, through its administration, each and every concomitant disorder present in the m-lady recognized as Consumption, and hitherto deemed hopeless and incurable.

This compound is perfectly safe, possessing neither narcotic nor emstic properties, which unfortunately are always employed as essentials in every preparation for Cough or Lung affection—a mistake which too often in its irritating and debilitating consequences, only conduces to much general derangement of the system, destroying appetite and creating an injurious aervous excitement, augmenting suffering with frequent istal results.

Under the injurence of this approved and invaluable

Under the influence of this approved and invaluable Specific the most distressing Cough yields, difficulty in breathing and pains and soreness subside, hemorrhage is arrested, and health and strength re-established.

THE WATER OF THIS SPRING IS BELIEVED TO be unequalled by that of any other in the far-famed valley of Saratoga. Its virtues are such as have secured it the high enconsitums of all who have used it, possessing, as it does, in an eminent degree, esthartic, diuretic, alterative and tonic qualities.

From SAMUEL HENRY DICKSON, M. D., Professor Practice of Physic, Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphis, formerly of Charleston, S. C.

PHILADELPHIA, November 15, 1886.

I have been for a year or more past in the habit of taking the water of the "Excelsior" Spring of Saratoga. Accustomed during the great portion of my invalid life to use the different waters of the several fountains which boil up along that remarkable valley, dependent, indeed, upon them for much of the comfort I enjoy, I am satisfied that the Excelsior Water is as well adapted as any other among them, if not more so, to the purposes for which they are generally employed. It is very agreeable, strongly impregnated with the carbonic scud, lively and sparking. * * * I can heartily and conscientiously recommend it to all who need a gentle cathartic and diuretic.

SAMUEL HENRY DICKSON, M. D.
